1. Introduction

Between July 2022 and June 2025, the BeneVict project¹ mobilised a network of 22 partner organisations across Europe to advance victims' rights through evidence-based research and cross-border collaboration. The BeneVict project was dedicated to developing evidence base for advancing rights of victims of crime and influencing the future of victims' rights in the European Union (EU) as well as enabling a broad pan-EU partnership to raise to the challenge of improving victims' realities across the EU.

The BeneVict project responded to the pressing need for reliable, evidence-based arguments to advance the rights of victims across the EU. By generating practical knowledge and tools, the project supported the EU and its Member States in implementing the EU Victims' Rights Strategy and in developing their own national approaches to victim support. It also strengthened the work of Victim Support Europe and its partners by providing resources to promote victims' rights more effectively. BeneVict aimed to deliver methodological tools for future joint initiatives, such as implementation assessments and improved data collection, while also making the case for greater investment in victim support services.

This report presents a detailed account of how each organisation engaged stakeholders, raised awareness and shared project outcomes through national and cross-border communication activities. The dissemination efforts documented here include those of the following organisations: APAV (Portugal), APHVF/SPAVO (Cyprus), ATENIN (Spain), BCNL (Bulgaria), Bijeli Krug (Croatia), BOJ (Sweden), CVH (Ireland), DROGA (Poland), EHRC (Estonia), EPLO (Greece), France Victimes (France), PIC (Slovenia), Rete Dafne (Italy), RIKU (Finland), Skalbes (Latvia), Slachtofferhulp Nederland (Netherlands), University of Bucharest (Romania), Victim Support Europe (Belgium), Victim Support Malta (Malta), VILIAS (Lithuania), Weisser Ring (Germany) and Weisser Ring Verbrechensopferhilfe (Austria). Together, these 22 partners contributed to a unified and wide-reaching dissemination strategy that ensured the project's messages reached diverse audiences across the European Union and beyond.

This dissemination report highlights communication, awareness, and engagement activities undertaken by project partners over the course of the project. These efforts took various forms, including:

- Social media campaigns and blog posts sharing research findings;
- Stakeholder meetings, trainings, and public events promoting project results;
- National and international conferences and academic presentations;
- Website content and printed materials explaining the goals, methods and outcomes of BeneVict.

Each partner tailored its outreach based on its national context, target audiences and available platforms. From local forums and university lectures to pan-European conferences and multilingual social media campaigns, the dissemination strategy ensured that BeneVict's core messages reached diverse audiences, including policymakers, legal professionals, victim support workers, civil society organisations, academics, and the general public.

In addition to national-level dissemination, the BeneVict project played a pivotal role in engaging external stakeholders at the EU and international levels. The research findings served as the foundation for a series of high-level advocacy meetings and dialogues with key actors, including representatives from the European Commission, the European Parliament, national governments and civil society organisations. Notable engagements included meetings with the Polish Permanent Representation to the EU, the French Interministerial Delegate for Victims, Commissioner for Justice Didier Reynders and his cabinet and several units within the Directorate-General for Justice and Consumers (DG JUST) including the EU Victims' Rights Coordinator. The findings were also presented in EU NGO roundtable discussions, expert panels and advocacy forums. These exchanges focused on strengthening key provisions of the revised Victims' Rights Directive, such as compensation, reporting, child protection and legal remedies. Through these targeted efforts, the project contributed directly to the policy dialogue surrounding the future of victims' rights in the EU.

The following sections offer a country-by-country summary of dissemination activities, showcasing how organisations across Europe contributed to raising awareness of victims' rights.

2. National Dissemination Activities

As a core component of the BeneVict project, national dissemination activities played a vital role in raising awareness, promoting the project's findings and encouraging stakeholder engagement across Europe. Each of the 22 partner organisations developed and implemented tailored dissemination strategies adapted to their national contexts, target audiences and available communication platforms. These efforts ensured that the research findings and messages of the BeneVict project reached a wide and diverse audience, including policymakers, professionals in victim support services, legal practitioners, academics, civil society organisations and the general public. The following sections provide a country-by-country overview of how each partner contributed to amplifying the project's impact through social media outreach, public events, stakeholder meetings, training sessions, academic presentations, and other communication tools.

The seminar “European Directive on victims of crime – current status and perspectives for its Implementation in Poland” took place on June 2, 2025, at the Faculty of Law and Administration, University of Warmia and Mazury in Olsztyn. It brought together both on-site and online experts to examine the practical rollout of EU Directive 2012/29/EU. The aim of the seminar was to identify implementation gaps and formulate recommendations to improve victim protection in Poland. Aleksandra Ivanković from Victim Support Europe presented on the implementation of the Directive in the country as emerged from the BeneVict research, and possible future developments stemming from the current negotiations around the Recast Directive. Additionally, she remarked the urge to provide support to victims based on both the rights enshrined in the Directive and their needs, as also seamlessly highlighted by VSE’s theorisation of the National Framework for Comprehensive Victim Support; together with the importance of data and research for the realisation of justice for crime victims, a principle at the core of the BeneVict project. During the seminar, it emerged that victims in Poland often feel lost due to the overlapping of several inconsistent and often contradictory regulations, and that police officers and prosecutors lack significant training, especially on communication with victims. 60 people among representatives of the judiciary, police, legal counsel, public administration, academia, and NGOs, participated in this event.

Additionally, an in-depth summary of the day can be consulted on VSE's website at: <https://victim-support.eu/news/benevict-final-conference-advancing-strong-evidence-base-for-victims-rights-in-the-eu/>.

On 20 February 2025, VSE hosted the BeneVict Final Conference at the Renaissance Hotel in Brussels.¹⁶ Bringing together over 81 stakeholders from across the EU, the conference provided a space to assess the current landscape of victims' rights, present the projects' key findings, disseminate the projects' results and shape future EU policy. In particular, panellists and participants agreed on the achievements and shortcomings of the existing Victims' Rights Directive, while contributing to underscore relevant insights to feed its ongoing revision and sustainable solutions to ensure that no victim is left behind and that their lived experiences and diverse needs are at the centre of any justice and support initiative within the EU.

The event was opened by Kazimierz Ujazdowski, Head of the Justice Section at the Polish Permanent Representation to the EU, and Katarzyna Janicka-Pawlowska, the European Commission's first Coordinator for Victims' Rights, who shared high-level insights into the ongoing reform of the Victims' Rights Directive (VRD).¹⁷ Aleksandra Ivanković and Oleksandra Boychenko presented the project and key findings from the research on the assessment of the practical implementation of the VRD.¹⁸ Moderated by Marieta Tosheva, Legal and Policy Officer at the European Commission, a panel featuring Pauline Okroglic (France Victimes), Marta Carmo (APAV, Portugal), and Michele Puckhaber (Crime Victims Helpline, Ireland) explored the realities of implementing the VRD¹⁹ in diverse national contexts. Similarly, evidence-based contributions came from Aleksandra Ivanković presenting findings from the BeneVict cost-benefit analysis, and Bridget Lynch (Inclusion Europe) and Mehmet Akin (ILGA Europe), who addressed the status and data gaps concerning victims from marginalised groups.

On 2 June 2025, Aleksandra Ivanković took part in the seminar “European Directive on victims of crime – current status and perspectives for its Implementation in Poland” organised by DROGA (PL) at the University of Warmia and Mazury in Olsztyn on behalf of Victim Support Europe. Ivanković presented on the implementation of the Directive in the country as emerged from the BeneVict research, and possible future developments stemming from the current negotiations around the Recast Directive. Additionally, she remarked the urge to provide support to victims based on both the rights enshrined in the Directive and their needs, as also seamlessly highlighted by VSE’s theorisation of the National Framework for Comprehensive Victim Support; together with the importance of data and research for the realisation of justice for crime victims, a principle at the core of the BeneVict project.

Advocacy Meetings with External Stakeholders

The findings from the research on the practical implementation of the VRD²² played a crucial role in shaping policy analysis and informing the development of relevant statistics. Relevantly, these data served as a key evidence base for formulating recommendations during the trilogue negotiations on the revision of the VRD.²³ This evidence was actively utilised in engagements with EU institutions, regional and international organisations, as well as during advocacy meetings, public presentations, and seminars.

A series of strategic advocacy meetings were held with key external stakeholders, including:

- The Polish Permanent Representation to the EU and the French Interministerial Delegate for Victims;
- EU Commissioner for Justice, Didier Reynders and his team;
- EU NGOs during dedicated roundtable discussions;
- The Directorate-General for Justice and Consumers (DG JUST), including focused meetings with the Victims' Rights Coordinator, Katarzyna Janicka-Pawłowska, and Marieta Tosheva, Legal and Policy Officer, from the DG JUST team working directly on the VRD revision file.²⁴

The primary focus of these engagements was to address and challenge key provisions under revision in the VRD.²⁵ The conclusions of the BeneVict report on the practical implementation of the VRD,²⁶ were instrumental in shaping these advocacy efforts. The report highlighted critical gaps in the current implementation of victims' rights across Member States, as well as the need for more consistent and victim-centred approaches. These findings were used to support arguments for legislative and policy reforms, enhance the credibility of advocacy positions and guide strategic engagement with policymakers.

In addition, the BeneVict findings helped shape the content and structure of VSE's Annual Conference in 2025, held in Portugal. Several sessions and panel discussions were informed by the report's findings, allowing for deeper dialogue on key challenges and practical recommendations for the revised directive. The findings also featured prominently in the opening speech by VSE President Rosa Jansen, who highlighted their relevance in informing policy change and aligning support services with the rights and expectations of victims across Europe.

Additionally, at least 18 posts were published on Twitter, before the decision of discontinuing VSE's profile on the platform (links to these posts are not available).

Between October 2022 and March 2023, VSE shared 28 posts on Instagram (14) and Facebook (14), which totalled a reach of 815 users. Data regarding approximately 10,000 people reached through the Twitter Ads for Good campaign over the same six-month period are not available as these statistics cannot be retrieved post-deletion of VSE account on Twitter following its acquisition by META. This campaign phase was aimed at generating interest in and building awareness of the project across target audiences, with a key focus on the challenges faced by victims of crime in Europe.

Instagram post, 15 November 2022.

Between July and December 2024, VSE published 44 posts on Instagram (22) and Facebook (22), 18 posts on Twitter, and 21 posts on LinkedIn. The campaign obtained substantial reach, engaging a total of 27,070 individuals. However, the campaign also highlighted key challenges, particularly on Twitter, mainly related to algorithm changes that suppress posts with referral links, the discontinuation of the Ads for Good programme, and difficulties in maintaining a safe and inclusive environment amidst harmful content and misinformation – for these reasons, the account was discontinued in 2025. Phase 2 of the BeneVict social media campaign focused on disseminating the research results to maximise the project's visibility across target audiences and promote the uptake of the final results as a base for policy change in favour of victims, their rights, and support systems.

Facebook post, 21 January 2025.

In 2025, as of June, VSE published 61 posts on Instagram (20), Facebook (20), and LinkedIn (21) reaching a total of 12517 individuals.

Among these posts, 9 (3 for each social media) were used to promote the Final Conference – with posts ranging the promotion of registrations to boost participation to the dissemination of the insights and conclusions stemming from the day. Additionally, 3 posts on Facebook, Instagram, and LinkedIn (1 for each social media) were dedicated to the dissemination of the Report on the practical implementation of the EU Victims' Rights Directive 2018-2024.³⁰ The report showcases the evidence provided by the project regarding the state of art of the practical implementation of the VRD³¹ within EU Member States.

LinkedIn post on the BeneVict Final Conference in Brussels, 20 February 2025

Instagram post, 11 June 2025.

In May 2025, VSE started a social media campaign in the context of the broader campaign '2025 Year of Victims' Rights'.³² The campaign consists of several factsheets on key topics revolving around the five needs of victims and related rights – the right to access justice, the right to support, the right to protection, the right to information and communication, and the right to compensation – and on the implementation of victims' rights at national level. The information there provided greatly takes from the BeneVict project and its research findings. As of June 2025, 28 posts between Facebook (9), Instagram (9), and LinkedIn (10) were published and the campaign will continue throughout the year. This campaign is part of broader efforts towards the improvement of the implementation of victims' rights across the EU.

Finally, BeneVict was mentioned across 5 VSE's newsletters published in Autumn 2022, Spring 2023, Autumn 2023, Spring 2024, Autumn 2024, and Spring 2025, totaling 3476 users reached, mainly part of the victim support community (professionals in victim support, health sector, academia, police).

To ensure that the minimum participation threshold required for the online training module³³ was reached, partners were tasked with promoting the course and collect registrations of at least 6 persons, both from internal staff and externals. On its side, to boost participation across its network of 83 members, VSE disseminated the training module on its Intranet.

2.19. Victim Support Malta (MT)

Description of organisation:

Victim Support Malta (VSM) is a non-governmental organization born in 2006 that currently caters for the needs of over 400 individuals. The NGO provides support and assistance to victims of crime, such as theft, burglary, cybercrime, domestic violence, sexual assault, harassment, physical assault and hate crime. The services provided by VSM include the provision of emotional support to assist victims in overcoming trauma following a crime; information and support pertaining to criminal procedures (e.g. the victims' right to request compensation and to access forms of protection provided by the law); and practical assistance (e.g. liaison with police, or other ancillary matters). VSM is in the process of growing its services to include working with younger victims as well as persons victimised by circumstance and indirect crime, trauma being at the root of all our interventions.

Description of dissemination activities:

Between May 31, 2024, and May 30, 2025, VSM has hosted 4 events in which victims' rights and support to crime victims were discussed. The events cumulatively gathered more than 200 participants, in particular professionals engaged with victims at various capacity.

Despite the events not being organised in the context of the BeneVict project, VSM disseminated with the participants the research findings for Malta (shared in paper format). The research briefing presents the main objectives and activities of the project, as well as the national implementation of the EU Victims' Rights Directive, whose transposition has evolved over time due to the enactment of new legislation.

From June 6, 2024, to May 22, 2025, VSM disseminated BeneVict-related activities and research findings with 33 social media posts – 22 on Facebook, 6 on Instagram and 5 on LinkedIn.

The partner mainly re-shared VSE's posts on research findings on Facebook. Instagram and LinkedIn were privileged as supporting channels to document BeneVict-related events or other occasions in which the project was mentioned, as well as its overall goals, and the publication of Report on the practical implementation of the EU Victims' Rights Directive 2018-2024.³⁴ All posts are available for consultation on VSM's Facebook, Instagram, and LinkedIn profiles. The posts received more than 200 interactions.

Relevantly, in line with the organisation's blueprint, the results of the BeneVict research were incorporated into the curriculum of the course "Restorative Justice and Victim Support" at the Faculty of Philosophy of the University of Vilnius in both 2023 and 2024. The course is attended by 45 students every year.

From July 9, 2024, to February 4, 2025, VILIAS disseminated BeneVict-related activities and research findings with 18 Facebook posts.

The partner opted for the use of graphics in English, while captions were translated into Lithuanian. All posts are available for consultation on VILIAS and Pagalbos nusikaltimų aukoms' Facebook pages.

2.22. Weisser Ring Verbrechensopferhilfe (AT)

Description of organisation:

Founded in 1978, Weisser Ring Verbrechensopferhilfe (hereinafter Weisser Ring Austria) is Austria's only legally recognized general victim support organization, open to all victims of crime, regardless of age, gender, origin, or religious affiliation. The development of Weisser Ring Austria is inextricably linked to the emergence of victims' rights and their enshrinement within the Criminal Code and the Victims of Crime Act. Together with other victim support organisations Weisser Ring Austria has made an active contribution to this development. The organisation is present throughout Austria with employees and volunteers as well as its own offices.

Description of dissemination activities:

Weisser Ring Austria was active in disseminating the BeneVict training module Planning an Advocacy Campaign in the Context of Victims' Rights.³⁶

Partners were required to identify at least 6 participants to the training module (both staff and externals). Trusted contacts within NGOs, including those operating and engaging with victims, were informed of the availability of the training module. This way, Weisser Ring was able to identify 7 participants, including 4 from ISPA-Internet Service Providers Austria, Gewaltschutzzentrum Wien, and die möwe - Kinderschutz.

From March 17, 2023, to July 8, 2025, Weisser Ring Austria disseminated BeneVict-related activities and research findings with 63 social media posts – 32 on Facebook and 31 on Instagram.

On Facebook, the partner either re-shared VSE's posts on research findings keeping the visuals in English and providing a translation of the caption in German or produced posts by always keeping the visuals in English and captions in German. This second modality was also privileged on Instagram. The publication of the Report on the practical implementation of the EU Victims' Rights Directive 2018-2024 was disseminated by sharing VSE's post on Facebook. All posts are available for consultation on Weisser Ring's Facebook and Instagram profiles. The posts received more than 190 interactions, with significantly higher overall engagement, including views, clicks, and other forms of user activity.

Instagram post, 13 August 2024.

Facebook post, 25 March 2025. The BeneVict project has made a significant contribution to advancing victims' rights across the European Union by developing an evidence base rooted in practice, fostering cross-border cooperation, and strengthening advocacy for change. Between July 2022 and June 2025, 22 partner organisations worked collaboratively to gather, analyse and disseminate critical insights into the implementation of the EU VRD,³⁷ as well as making a strong case for increased investment in victim support services.

³⁶ The training Planning an Advocacy Campaign in the Context of Victims' Rights is provided on Victim Support Europe's Hub at: <https://victimsupporthub.eu/courses/planning-an-advocacy-campaign-in-the-context-of-victims-rights-project-benevict/> (access is conditioned to approval).

3. Conclusion

Dissemination was a key pillar of the project. Through hundreds of social media posts, website publications, conference presentations and stakeholder meetings, BeneVict reached thousands of individuals across Europe. Partners tailored their outreach to local contexts while maintaining the shared goal of raising awareness and fostering dialogue. Participation in national and international events, including VSE's Annual Conferences and the BeneVict Final Conference in Brussels, further amplified the impact of the project.

Engagements with EU and national stakeholders were especially impactful. The findings of the BeneVict report were used in direct advocacy with high-level policy-makers, including EU Commissioners, national delegates, and DG JUST representatives. These engagements supported arguments for a stronger and more enforceable Victims' Rights Directive and highlighted key areas for reform, including compensation, support services, child protection, and legal remedies.

Importantly, the dissemination and advocacy efforts launched under the BeneVict project will continue beyond its official conclusion. In May 2025, Victim Support Europe launched a dedicated social media campaign as part of the broader initiative, 2025 – The Year of Victims' Rights. This campaign builds directly on BeneVict's findings and includes a series of factsheets on key rights, such as access to justice, support, protection, information and communication, and compensation. It also highlights the state of implementation of victims' rights at the national level. As of June 2025, 28 posts had been published across Facebook, Instagram and LinkedIn, with further content planned through the end of the year. This ongoing campaign ensures that the knowledge and momentum generated by BeneVict continue to inform public awareness, institutional reform and future policy development across the EU.

Ultimately, BeneVict has not only produced valuable research but also laid the groundwork for sustained progress in the field of victims' rights. By empowering organisations with tools, knowledge, and advocacy strategies, the project has strengthened the foundations for future collaborative initiatives.

POST 1 (JULY 9TH, 2024)

Let's start with two 'simple' questions: How well are we doing for victims across the EU and does the EU Victims' Rights Directive work in practice?

Our BeneVict project findings reveal the achievements and toughest challenges the EU Members States are facing in implementing the directive.

BeneVict is a project that aims to support the global need to have valid and evidence-based argument for the advancement of victims' rights across the EU.

In 2022-2023, the BeneVict partnership conducted research in 26 EU Member States to assess the implementation of the Victims' Rights Directive, 10 years after it was established. Over the next few weeks, VSE will be sharing key findings and conclusions from this European-wide research.

Ultimately, these findings can stand as a basis for a careful rethinking, at national and EU-level, of how are victims' rights being enacted (or not) and what type of future action is needed to improve their standing.

*In 2012, the EU Victims' Rights Directive was adopted to ensure that victims across European borders enjoy their rights and have equal access to support services. Member States were required to transpose the Victims' Directive into their national context and practically implement it to allow victims to exercise rights enshrined in it until 16 November 2015. However, till now, Member States did not fully establish the adequate procedures and mechanisms for putting the Directive into practice.
